THE DOORS

As you had probably noticed, the town of Johnston had a new sign to welcome our visitors last year. In addition to a greeting, when you left our sign said good-bye with "Thank-you come again."

This 8' x 8' redwood sign was erected on the front lawn of the International Hawaiian Inn on Merle Hay Road. The sign was a joint effort of the Chamber of Commerce and the city of Johnston.

On the top border is a sunrise, a sailboat, and a picture of an ear of corn. All of these pictures represent Iowa and our town of Johnston.

Pioneer had outgrown its shoes again and Johnston was the place to build. Weitz's Builders erected 34,000 square feet of bricks and glass to produce the new Central Seed Building. Sixty-five employees moved in February 1, 1964.

1981, to unite the seed division here in Johnston. Marketing and production experts in charge of Pioneer's sales in Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas had charge of the corn, wheat, soybeans, alfalfa, sorghum, and sila-bac advertising and distribution. The Central Building is truly an asset to Johnston because of its beauty and growth to the community.

On Thursday, July 16, 1981, the Convalescent Home for Children was dedicated in Johnston. There were around 1,750 people invited to the dedication.

The Convalescent Home is located in Green Meadows. It is a nonprofit, private institution for terminally ill or severely handicapped children. It gives the children the medical attention that they cannot receive at home.

The unique pentagon-shaped building contains sixty beds. Last year there was one child from the Convalescent Home going to Johnston High School, and they plan on having a few come later.

Large companies have contributed thousands of dollars to the Convalescent Home. Also, The Sports Medicine Club of the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery sponsored a ten kilometer race, Saturday, May 9, 1981, in Green Meadows. The runners received a free T-shirt and a free dinner at Spaghetti Market.

In the future they hope to add on two wings. The wings will house more children, a dental clinic, and a diabetes education center.

CAMEO

It's a bird; it's a plane; it's Superman III! Millions of people jammed into the movie theaters last summer when the sequel to Superman came out last year. A record of $400 million was reached between the two top movies, Raiders of the Lost Ark and Superman II. There wasn't much of a "new wave" of movies last year, mostly the same as always: comedies, suspense-dramas, animations, romances, and an original type came out; it was a 3-D film Comin' At Ya! It was a 3-D film in which a pair of two-bit con artists marry, decide to become honest citizens and are thwarted in their attempt by two villains of the Old West. At the theaters they even had free 3-D glasses to wear during the movie.

Raiders of the Lost Ark was the choice of many people. The ark was a chest in which Moses was supposed to have placed the Ten Commandment Tablets. During World War II, an archeologist and a woman whose father was the last link in the search of the artifact, teamed up to find the magical ark.

Endless Love, starring Brooke Shields, the widely recognized Calvin Klein Jean advertisor, was one of the very few romance films last year. It was a very popular movie among teenage girls.

Animation took a step further with a warm-hearted film geared for children, The Fox and the Hound, to a highly intensified adult, Heavy Metal.

Other movies were: Arthur, Paternity, Tarzan, the Ape Man, Only When I Laugh, and of course there was the sequel to The Muppet Movie which was The Great Muppet Caper for all of you Muppet fans.

SELECTOR

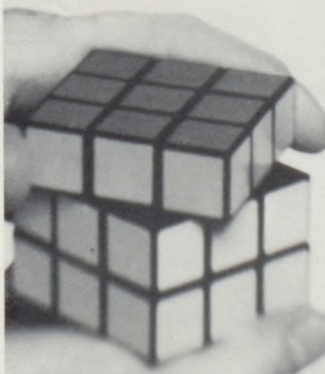

The "new wave" on the bestseller list this year was humor, intrigue, and, of course, romance. Some of the favorite books were Firestarter by Stephen King, If There Be Thorns by V. C. Andrews, and Rage of Angels by Sidney Sheldon. For the guys who imagined that there needed to be some better looking chicks and preppy dressers there were two books out called Color Me Beautiful and The Official Preppy Handbook to help.

Just in case you got bored on a date you could have brought along the book The Simple Solution to Rubik's Cube and figured out the puzzling cube. If you were in Mr. Partington's class listening to one of his famous lectures, just pull out the saga The Clan of the Cave Bear. This book was about the Cro-Magnon and Neanderthal era. You probably would have had it done by the end of class. If you were in advanced biology and not sure what to do with your pickled cat, go out and buy 101 Uses for a Dead Cat.

There were always the romances that the girls just loved. The boys liked to read the excerpts from Endless Love, The Ring, and Love Play. Other books of interest were No Love Lost, which was about women's lib, The Cradle Will Fall, about a suburban scandal, and A Confederacy of Dunces, regarding one man's war with the excesses of our times. There were many books out besides the ones of the bestseller list that people read such as Cosmos by Carl Sagan, When the Wind Blows by John Saul, and Tides of Love by Patricia Matthews. So for all you people with "selective" taste there was always a book for you.

CROCS TO DRAGONS

Looking back at last year one thing stood out in our minds. The alligators! Thousands of them coming from every direction! There was nowhere to hide!

Izods were the new wave fashion that took Johnston by storm. Whether it was a blue panther, red dragon, green fox or pink alligator, someone was wearing it. It was preppy and it was in style.

Like everything else, there was a handful who disliked and opposed the quickly-spreading fashion. We called them the "anti-preps". They stood in the background griping or groaning at every preppy that walked by, threatening that someday they would kill off each and every alligator that existed. Of course, there were a few who made their anti-prep opinions clear by wearing pink Izods to school. But did it help? No, the preppies still lived on.

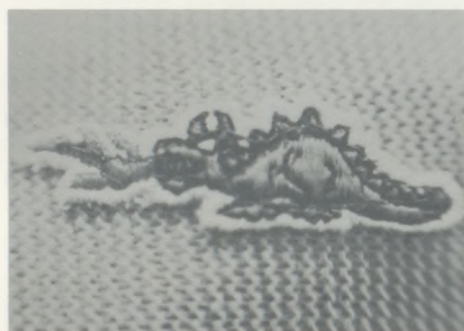

This final note is dedicated to all "anti-preps":

Fashion may come,
and fashion may go,
but Prep will never die.

HEAD EAST

The national pastime went "out" on strike during the summer of 1981, from June 12 to August 6. Who lost more? The players with their $170,000 salaries or was it the owners that lost $1.25 million a day? No, it was the game of baseball.

At least for the '81 season the fan enthusiasm had been lost from the game of baseball. One out of every three fans were less likely to go to a game after the strike, according to Sports Illustrated. When the strike ended in late summer, football pre-season was upon us and the fans never got back into baseball.

Many people felt that baseball had been paying too many big salaries like Dave Winfield's undisputed $1.5 million received annually. The free agency, which is each player controlling his own contracts, had taken some of the "game" out of baseball.

LED

ZEPPELIN

As new wave music was on the rise, planes were grounded because of the air traffic controllers' strike which began August 3, 1981. They finally got tired of split-second life and death decisions so they went on strike. After massive fines, contempt-of-court orders, and jailing of some of the leaders, the controllers held out against the government. Reagan told the air traffic controllers to work or be fired. He had hoped this would scare most of them back to work but over 12,000 controllers remained on strike. The air traffic controllers broke the law prohibiting the striking of federal employees. The F.A.A. gathered up a group of supervisors, non-strikers, and military controllers to control the air during the strike. The strikers claimed the system was unsafe. Should they have been fired? A Gallup Poll said 57% agreed with Reagan and 29% were against him.

LOVER BOY

St. Paul's Cathedral in London was the site of the wedding of Charles Phillip Arthur George, Prince of Wales and Lady Diana Francis Spencer on July 29, 1981.

They publicly announced their engagement in February. Since then, Lady Diana had been living in the Clarence House, where the Queen Mother lives. She had taught kindergarten for a few years.

On the night before the wedding, Prince Charles held a stag party and a fireworks display. He lit one hundred and two bonfires at Hyde Park in London. At the stag party, Charles had 20 of his closest friends with him at White's, the oldest and most exclusive private club in London.

On the wedding day, a procession of horses and carriages began taking the Royal Family from Buckingham Palace to St. Paul's Cathedral, a two mile route down the Red Brick Mall, through Admiralty Arch, across Trafalgar Square, down Strand and Fleet Street, then it climbed Ludgate Hill to St. Paul's.

The Queen left Buckingham Palace in the biggest carriage, accompanied by Prince Philip. The Queen's procession included eight carriages in all.

Prince Charles appeared next in a carriage built for his great great-grandfather. With him was Prince Andrew.

Then the one everyone had been waiting for appeared next. Lady Diana rode to St. Paul's in a seventy-one-year-old glass coach. Elizabeth Emanuel designed the wedding dress called "The Secret of the Century." She did not wear a veil as a tradition in the Royal Family. As she arrived at the Cathedral, twelve trumpets played "Trumpet Voluntary."

In all, the wedding lasted seventy minutes. The Reverend Alan Webster began the ceremony and the Archbishop Runcie heard the wedding vows. At the placement of the ring, Lady Diana became the Princess of Wales.

WINGS

If we did not go to sleep at night
 We'd never awoken to see the light
 And the joy of watching a new day break
 Or meeting the dawn by some quiet lake
 Would never be ours unless we slept
 While God and all His angels kept
 A vigil through this "little death"
 That's over with the morning's breath —
 And death, too, is a time of sleeping
 For those who die are in God's keeping
 And there's a "sunrise" for each soul
 But life, not death, is God's promised goal.
 So trust God's promise and doubt Him never
 For only through death can man live forever!

— Helen S. Rice

The following are excerpts from an open letter from the Main family to the community:

"The Lord called Micki home Sunday evening, October 11, 1981. She was barely 15 years old. She died and is gone, but not from our thoughts and memories. Oh! What sweet memories. God plucked a beautiful flower that day, beautiful inside and out.

"Shining brightly through and around our grief, our sadness, our loss — has been a loving, caring, sharing community. We are so PROUD of you and so pleased to live and work among you."

Most sincerely,

Leroy, Helen,

EGYPT'S SADAT ASSASSINATED; ISRAEL JITTERY, FOES REJOICE

Reagan says slaying was cowardly act

On October 6, 1981, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was assassinated. Sadat was seated in a reviewing stand watching a military parade when at least six men dressed as soldiers leaped from a truck and ran toward the reviewing stand, firing their rifles and hurling at least one grenade. The attackers were said to have shouted, "Glory to Egypt!" and yelled "Agents and intruders!" at foreigners on the reviewing stand watching the parade. Witnesses said the reviewing stand was littered with bullet-riddled armchairs and that bloodied dignitaries were thrown into pandemonium by the attack. Soldiers wept, crying aloud, "The President! The President!" The army sources said all six attackers, including one lieutenant, were members of an artillery unit. They said two were killed and the others were apprehended. The official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said five others were killed, and thirty-eight were injured, including four Americans. An official medical bulletin issued by MENA said Sadat arrived at Maadi Military hospital in a coma for about twenty minutes and with several wounds. It said that "urgent treatment," including heart massage and blood transfusions, failed and that Sadat died at 2:40 P.M. October 6. (7:40 A.M. October 7, Iowa time.)

FOREIGNER

English was still around for another year as one of our required classes. New English credit classes were added to the schedule to replace classes such as theatre arts and journalism which were dropped due to budget cuts. Media and communications and business English were the two new classes this year.

The media and communications class involved writing articles which were sent to put in the Johnston News when space is available.

In business English they learned how to write letters in proper form. They also went into vocabulary and punctuation. During the second semester of this course they wrote letters asking for applications from hotels, real estate companies, insurance companies and other such businesses found in the yellow pages.

Overall our English classes are surviving the years and coping with budget cuts.

No one was hit harder by the budget cuts than the foreign language department.

As a result of the budget cuts foreign language classes were cut from nine classes to six. The foreign language teachers were forced to give up their Spanish or French classes so they could teach English classes.

Mrs. Rockhold, the Spanish teacher, said that her enrollment was up in her classes this year, but her class periods were fewer. She had 68 students last year in three classes, but in 1980-81 she had had 60 students in five classes. Her largest class last year had 33 students and she had to turn away some who wanted to take Spanish I.

On August 2, 1982, seven students from Johnston High School flew from Chicago to Brussels. The students visited the Riviera, Paris, Belgium, Avignon, France, and Geneva, Switzerland. The seven students who attended the trip were Todd Kreamer, Paige Merkel, Marsha Merritt, Leah Rensch, David Stout, Lisa Strong and Stacy Schoondyke. The chaperones were Miss Ohaver, Miss Crawford, and Mr. Donahue. The Johnston students were accompanied by 18 students from Farmington, Illinois.

Chemistry students were blessed this year with a class division in chemistry. For the college minded students: Career Chemistry, a more advanced class with more math. But for the general student: Basic Chemistry a similar class but less detailed. Over the first semester Mr. Partington received the names of "Twiggy" and "Grizzly". Of course you never informed him of the existence of either.

There were more and more students taking business classes. They were starting to realize that, as Miss Drew said, "They need a skill of some sort to survive in the future." Whether it be typing or accounting, they both would help a lot in getting a job.

Because there was such a demand for typing, Miss Drew taught Typing I, II, III, and IV. The number of students taking classes had almost doubled from the year before last and students seemed to be taking these classes more seriously than in past years.

RAINBOW

Many people may not know it, but art is more than just painting. There are many things in our daily life that we don't realize as forms of art.

Music is an art in itself. The time and effort put together to perform one song to bring enjoyment to many deserves a lot of praise.

Simple things like a roast or a cake can be considered a masterpiece. A chef devotes many days, weeks, or even years to create that one recipe that will bring him recognition he's longed for.

Works of art can also be created by a sewing machine or a drill. The detail in a project can show the time

Special Education classes dealt with students who needed extra help. There was a growing number of students who needed more one on one assistance and for this reason one more addition was made to the teaching staff. Mrs. Pamela Howell, a self-contained program teacher, joined Diane Kleen, resource teacher, and Kathy Pitzen, SCIN teacher. Both Miss Kleen and Mrs. Pitzen have been here two years and now with Mrs. Howell on the staff, their combined efforts have really made a contribution to the school system. Miss Kleen helps 17 students, Mrs. Pitzen helps with 14, and Mrs. Howell helps with three.

Physical Education took on a new aspect this year. Miss Crawford and Mr. Strickler separated into permanent classes that had about 15 students in each class. Due to the smaller classes, a greater variety of activities were offered, such as hockey, skating, and square dancing. There were two student teachers. Helping Mr. Strickler was Mr. Pat O'Donnell, and Miss Beth Andreini helped Miss Crawford, they were both from I.S.U.

MOODY BLUES

This year Baccalaureate preceeded Graduation. It began at 2:00 p.m. in the school auditorium on May 23, 1982. The ceremony was far less formal than in the past. Seniors were not required to attend, and wearing their robes was optional. There was no organized seating.

This year, there was no processional, recessional, or any type of religious music. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend Wesley Carlson of the Johnston Evangelical Free Church.

Commencement was on Sunday, May 23, 1982 at 3:00 p.m. It took place in the school gymnasium. Seats for the parents of the graduating students were reserved directly behind the graduates on the gymnasium floor. All other guests were seated in the bleacher area.

The Commencement address was delivered by Dr. Virgil S. Lagomarcino, Dean of the College of Education at Iowa State University.

The Juniors who led in the Seniors were Kristin Thompson and Mike Main.

Valedictorian was Dee Campbell and the Salutatorian was Rick Aurther. The class colors were Creme and Lilac, the class flower was the White Rose, and the class motto "What we are to be, we are becoming."

COMMODORES

Four terms of the members of the school board ended and two did not seek re-election. David Goss, Jr. and President Charles Iler both stepped down from office. Those vacancies were filled by Leroy Main and James Arthur. The new president was Gene Lesch.

The board had a tough time of it after the budget cut. One attempt to keep the budget balanced was to have one nurse serve the whole school district. To bring in extra money there was a $5 charge for foods and photo arts classes, a $30 charge for drivers education, and a $5 athletic fee for each sport.

Some of the positive aspects were the landscaping projects around the school. Trees were planted along the front of the building. Concrete tables were set outside for eating on in the summer. Storage sheds were built to keep equipment. And the softball and baseball fields each received bleachers and a press box.

Even though there were fewer students taking hot lunch, those who did still received quality meals that were highly nutritious. Some of the favorite foods among the students were: Chicken tetrazzini, homemade rolls, turkey gravy, and chocolate cake.

The choice of having a sandwich or dinner were still offered, but the salad was no longer served.

Although sometimes the janitors seemed to go unnoticed, their work didn't. They not only picked up candy wrappers and swept the floors from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m., but kept the school operating during the night, over the weekend, and through vacations. Overall, their services helped keep all of us a little more comfortable and more appreciative of J.H.S.

ROLLING STONES

All Senior Classes are known for "horsing around" but the Johnston class of '82 took it literally.

For a late Halloween prank, some senior football players took the Acco horse for a late night stroll, and somehow it ended up on the School roof. It remained on the roof to meet the students on Monday morning. Unfortunately, many students were unable to see the message "Party on Class of '82" written on the horse, because of the wind which blew it over.

Custodians were unsure of the damage done to the school at the time the horse was lifted down from the school.

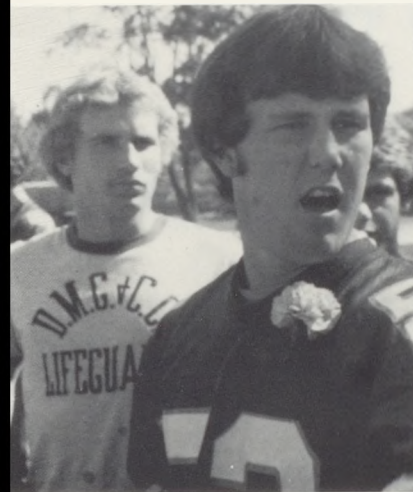

The students not involved with the prank commented in a variety of ways. Most thought it was "excellent" and funny. Trisha Neff said, "It's our class motto 'Horsing around' ". Dobby Hicks said "I had nothing to do with it." Must have been a guilty conscience. Rick Swarbrick wanted to ride the horse. Bill Blubaugh said, "Just wait until the end of the year, it will be worse." Some people thought it was immature, but as Jim Evens put it, "We've only just begun."

OK! So here we are, Juniors! Upperclassmen! And what's so great about being a Junior? Open lunch that's what! After all those years of school lunch it was a delight to chow down on hamburgers and french fries. All those poor Freshmen and Sophomores had to suffer. Ha! Ha!

Sophomores! Sophomores! Sophomores! What more could one say! They were waiting to get their driver's license and still couldn't go out for lunch. Although this was not the only thing about being a sophomore. They also had to sit through "Happy Harswick's History Hour" for fifty minutes. What a bummer! But there were a few things that sophomores could look forward to during the school year. Pete Prediger was looking forward to "whiskey, Cert races, and wild, wild women." (What are Cert races? Give Pete or any other Buccaneer Hockey player a call to find out). Most people were looking forward to basketball season, driving, and going to parties. Jeff Ferguson said he was anxiously awaiting for new women and kegs. Tsk! Tsk!

Bryon Tack came up with an original by looking forward to being able to eat after wrestling was over. I guess a lot of our wrestlers could have related to that. Overall, if you think about it, being a sophomore was a lot better than being a freshman because you didn't get picked on as much. Eric Jones said he thought it was better being a sophomore because you didn't get jocked.

Mary Chambers said she was not as squirrely. Another great reason to be a sophomore was that you got on Mr. Mahoney's good side. The majority of the sophomores liked not being picked on as much by the upperclassmen. But others, such as Gregg Daniels, believed that there was absolutely nothing to like about being a sophomore. Poor Gregg!

The freshmen this year seemed pretty excited about coming to the high school. Most of them seemed to like the freedom they had here. When asked what he liked about the high school Troy Johnson said, "More freedom, choice of classes, and the concession stand."

Connie Brom

UFO

The week of September 28 through October 2 was Homecoming for Johnston High School. Many events took place during that week to help promote homecoming. There were T-shirt day, hat day, dress up day, grub day, and no-red day.

There were many unique T-shirts on T-shirt day. For example, Kathy Schuler had a T-shirt that said "Go to hell world, I'm a Senior." Miss Ohaver had a bright red shirt that said, "No, it's not a perm!" Some others were Valerie Crees's shirt which said, "Too smart to study and too cute to care." On Grub day we wore the oldest and ugliest clothes we could dig out of the far corners of our drawers and closets. Lisa Strong, for instance, wore holey jeans, blue fuzzy slippers, a sweat-shirt, and to top it off, curlers and a bandana in her hair.

On Friday was "no-red day." Before the game, the football players painted the faces of anyone caught wearing red clothes since the opponents colors were red and black. Clint Kappleman, Scott Engstrom and Karen McCartney were a few who got painted. Some people wanted to be funny so they intentionally wore red. If you tried to wash the paint off, you would get painted again, but much worse.

When walking down the hall one day,
I saw, much to my dismay,
Teens hurrying and scurrying about.
I thought to myself, "What's it all about?"

The date was September 29, 1981.

Why, the school year had hardly begun!!

Then I knew it just had to be Homecoming week . . . and what did I see?

Hats, hats, and hats, galore
Yes, it's true; that's what they wore.

I saw captains hats (or were they from the crew?)

I even saw some bonnets too.
Some had feathers; some had lace;

And there were baseball caps all over the place!

I saw green hats, red hats, yellow and blue.

Cowboy hats? There were quite a few.

There was a hat with horns and a hat with wings.

And even one from good old Bing.

Sombreros, berets, army hats too.

I saw chefs hats, fish and pigs it's true!

Hats, hats, all the way.

I even saw a beer can hat (on a Tuesday?)

Queen

The Johnston High football team came out fired up to play North Polk after a pep assembly earlier in the day. Don Vestal scored the first touchdown of the game for Johnston. Todd Robbins added a field goal to give Johnston a total of 9 points at the end of the first half while North Polk finished with 16 points. The second half went better as North Polk was unable to score and Todd Pugh and Todd Robbins each scored a touchdown for Johnston giving Johnston a 21-16 victory.

The Junior-Senior girls set the rhythm to the powder puff football game as they pounced on the Freshman-Sophomore, 22-0. An interception led to a Robin Spark's touchdown while Donna Brooks and Val Crees both found their way into the end zone. They also connected on two two-point conversions.

On the afternoon of Oct. 2, 1981, the 1981 Homecoming Queen was crowned. The Queen candidates were Marlene O'Malley with John Lockard as her escort, Kathy Schuler with her escort Bill Blubaugh, and Tami Sparks with Bryan Bowen as her escort.

The junior attendant was Kristin Thompson with Frank DeStefano as her escort. The sophomore attendant was Julie Everett with Matt Lang as her escort. The freshman attendant was Trisha Ruddick with her escort Troy Johnson.

Stacey Elliott introduced the candidates and described their attire as they walked to the stage. Scott Dewhurst gave a short talk about the football team and presented a football signed by all the players to the Queen to be. Steve Arthur then spoke for a moment about the cross country team and presented a baton to the Queen to be. Mr. Mahoney spoke for a little while about attending, watching, and supporting school activities.

Swing Choir sang "Let the Sun Shine In" and Concert Choir sang a "Cut from the Same Cloth," adding a special touch to coronation.

Dee Campbell, Student Council President, had the honor of crowning Marlene O'Malley as the 1981 Homecoming Queen.

THE POLICE

The Student Advisory Board, formerly called Student Council, is made up of thirteen members. Three class officers are chosen in each of the four grades: freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior. The President of the Board is elected in spring by the other Board members.

The Board meets three out of four weeks with Mr. Otto. Its purpose is to help the administration establish school policies, and to assist activities such as the can drive, the Christmas Talent show, St. Valentine's Day Dance, and Homecoming activities. Others subjects discussed were the purchasing of school materials like the picnic tables, and the possibility of having nine forty-minute periods for the 1982-83 year instead of the seven fifty-minute periods currently in use.

President of the Board: Dee Campbell. Senior Class officers: John Lockard, President; Todd Merritt, Vice-Pres.; and Scott Dewhurst, Secretary-Treasurer. Junior class officers: Kristin Thompson, Pres.; Frank De Stefano, Vice-Pres.; and Mike Main, Sec-Treas. Sophomore class officers: Eric Jones, Pres.; Mary Paez, Vice-Pres.; and Lee Shervheim, Sec-Treas. Freshman class officers: Lisa Maigaard, Pres.; Ivetta Lacsina, Vice-Pres.; and Stacy Elliott, Sec-Treas.

TRIUMPH

The N.H.S. was an organization that honored scholastic achievement. The student must have had a good attendance record and good school citizenship as well as good grades (a B+ average). If he or she happened to slip and get a C in one class (it happens to the best of us now and then) he or she must have earned A's in two other classes to cover it. If he really messed up and got a D (in his favorite class, no doubt) you would need four A's to cover mistake. Only semester grades were used to determine eligibility, music and physical education didn't count.

As a Junior in the N.H.S. you would receive for your efforts a pin and certificate. As a Senior you would receive a guard along with the pin.

In the future, qualifications for the N.H.S. will be even stricter. Anyone with a C or D won't be able to join.

N.H.S. members were: Rick Arthur, Steve Arthur, Michelle Betz, Dee Campbell, Cass Cole, Scott Dewhurst, John French, Mary Gilson, Kathy Hoffman, Mike Kurth, Anita Lacsina, Lisa Long, Todd Merritt, Tricia Neff, Jean Pinegar, Melinda Reese, Leah Rensch, Kathy Schuler, Robin Sparks, Melissa Wilkinson, Janelle Yepsen.

AIR SUPPLY

Teen! Teen! What's so special about being a teenager anyway? The chorus sure learned a few things about being a teen as they presented the musical "Teen." It portrayed a weekend in the life of a teenager: dances, talking on the phone, Saturday blues, and getting uptight about parents. It took weeks of hard work and practice learning lines, music, and choreography, but it payed off. The musical was a success.

Pinegar, K. Gegner, J. Yepsen, K. Thompson, J. Van Farrow, E. Baltz, M. Friestad, R. Ward, J. Evans, D. Hicks, M. Wilkinson, T. Neff, C. Goss, S. Schoondyke.

Concert Choir also had a very successful year. It started off with "Cut From the Same Cloth" and ended with "The Lord is My Light." One of the most memorable songs was "The Great Muppet Caper Melody." The choir was dressed in costumes from the Pink Panther to the Blues Brothers, from the Rockettes to Groucho and Harpo Marx. They also received great praise after their Second Annual Madrigal Dinner. They relied on some old favorites like, "Angels We Have Heard On High," "The First Noel," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," and added some new songs like, "In Dulci Jubilo" and "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming."

The year ended with a trip to the Ozarks in Missouri. They left Friday, May 27, and returned on Memorial Day. During their stay, they visited Silver Dollar City, White Water Park, Fantastic Caverns, and the School of the Ozarks. They also attended a play entitled "The Shepherd of the Hills," and a music show. It was a trip that everyone looked forward to.

The candles were lit; the guests were seated; and all was quiet in the Great Hall of McAuley Terrace. With a blare of the trumpets the mystical night began, taking us back in time to the 16th century.

Wandering into the castle came the troubador, engaging the jester in a tournament of wit. The troubador failed to win, and the triumphant jester was knighted "King of Jesters, and Jester of Kings."

As the guests finished their desserts, the royalty and servers united in songs of joy and merriment to spread the yuletide spirit.

Then, as the night drew to a close, the guests were offered best wishes for the Christmas season, before they were ushered back to 1981.

ZZ TOP

It was a terrific year for the Johnston Swing Choir. They received a Division I rating at State Contest, put on the Annual Swing Choir Show in May, and made two television appearances.

Last year was the first year that there had been a state contest for Swing Choir and Johnston started off right by receiving a "Superior" rating. Another first was that the Swing Choir was asked to perform on the Variety Club of Iowa Telethon. Not too many people saw them sing, because they went on at 6:15 a.m., but many who tuned in later saw the members answering phones and taking pledges. They also performed on "Ray Pugh's Goodtime Gang" on the Drake University cable network.

The finale of the year was the Swing Choir Show. The theme was "Catchin' the Sun" and in keeping with that theme, the Swing Choir performed "Let the Sunshine In," "Aquarius/Let the Sunshine In," and "The Sunny Side of the Street." Also the girls sang a song called "When I Meet My Man," and the boys sang "Home on that Rock."

Sound Advice also had a good year.

At State Contest they received a Division II, or "Excellent" rating. They also performed at the Bishop Drumm Retirement Home, Merle Hay Mall, and at the Middle School. At State Contest, they sang four songs: "Let's Start a Celebration," "A Friend Like You," "You're the Love," and "Let Me Dance." This is only the third year of existence for the Sound Advice group of 23 members.

LITTLE RIVER BAND

The Band began its season by winning the "Best Musical Entry" trophy at the Grimes' Centennial. During the marching season Johnston, at Valley, took fifth place in the open division, out-scoring such schools as West Des Moines Dowling and Cardinal of Elden. The following week, at state marching contest held at Pella Community, the Johnston Band improved its score by over ten points. The best scoring improvements were in the flags and rifles by scoring 9.4 out of 14 possible points, and also in marching execution. The 62.1 point showing earned Johnston the rating of "EXCELLENT," Division 2. The band marched at all home football games, and the pep band played after the half time.

In October the band made a good start at fund raising for a spring 1983 trip by selling "Fun Kit" products.

The concert band played at both the winter and spring concerts, playing such songs as a "Medley from Jazz Singer," "Pyramids," and "Armida Overture."

They also participated in concert competition at the Drake Relays-Adventureland Band Festival in the Spring.

The winter pep band was composed of 28 people, the largest ever, played at the varsity basketball games.

To end the year the band began work on its 1982-83 marching shows.

THE JAM

The 1981-82 Jazz Band completed another successful year for the jazz band program. They attended the SCIBA Jazz Contest at Ankeny, the Drake Jazz Festival, State Jazz Contest at Pella, the UNI Tallcorn Festival, and the Hoover Jazz Festival. They came back with a third place and many "One" or "Superior" ratings.

"Mumbly Peg," "Ladera Park," "If We Could Only Sail Away," and "Boom Town" were a few of the songs the group played. They performed at a winter and a spring concert and twice for the Johnston Senior Citizen group. They also played at the Bankers' Trust Building during Drake Relays Week.

This year there were seventeen members in Jazz One. Only three of them will be graduating so next year's group will have a strong foundation.

A new jazz group was added to the band program this year. It was called Reed Seed. The group had no brass players, making it different than a regular jazz band.

Reed Seed was formed to give more students experience in jazz. The nine member group practiced two days a week. They performed at two concerts and for the Johnston Senior Citizens group.

Some of the songs they played were "Birdland," "Get Funky," and "12th Street Strut."

Reed Seed got off to a good start and will be an asset to the jazz band program.

THE SHOES

Let's get physical! Last year's twenty-one member dance squad did get physical with everything from military to jazz and aerobic dance. The team was sponsored by Mrs. Jody White and led by senior co-captains Dee Campbell and Anita Lacsina.

They started off the year by performing at a home football game. The song they used was called "Touchdown" and the routine was made up of different football referee signals.

As basketball season started, the Marquettes began practice every day after school. The team performed at six home basketball games and attended a state Drill Team Contest at Valley High School where they received third place for their light show performance to "Games People Play."

At the end of the year the Marquettes put on a Show of Shows. The show included five old routines, a routine by the new 1982-83 squad and a dance to "Fame" done by the senior members. Also, a dance duet to "Work Your Body" done by Ivetta Lacsina and Amy Cahalan, and a new light show to "Freeze Frame."

Some of the favorites were "Physical" and "Let's Groove."

SPIRO GYRA

What is M.D.A.? Everyone has heard of Muscular Dystrophy, but how many people have contributed to the Muscular Dystrophy Association? MDA works on many different diseases such as Muscular Dystrophy, Spinal Muscular Atrophy, and Metabolic diseases of muscle.

The Annual Marathon Dance was sponsored by the FCA of Johnston High School. A total of $2,800 was raised by 120 students.

A couple of things stuck out in the memory of those who attended the dance, such as all the food one could eat, and especially the gold fish swallowing.

The dance would not have been possible without the help of many people and companies. Thanks go to Craig Lee from KMGK who was the D.J. for the dance, Joe Denton who donated the sound system, Dave Gardner who ran the sound system, Joe Evans and Dwane Weikel, and a very special thanks to those companies who donated supplies for the dance: Hy-Vee (Johnston), Hy-Vee (Clive), Lambarts Dairy, Hiland, Johnston Distributing, Inc., 7-Up Corp., Acco, Embers, Stogwells, Ardan's, Skate Country, and Happy Joe's. THANKS!

ATLANTIC STAR

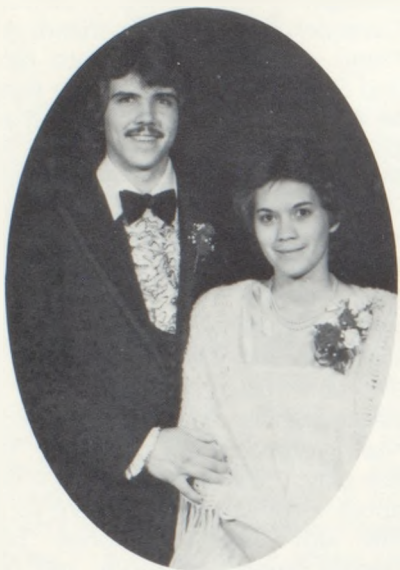

Last spring three one-act plays were presented at Johnston High School. All three plays were directed by Mrs. Marilyn Tews with the help of three student directors Dan Everhart, "Antic Spring," Kris Smith, "Lady Seeks Position," and Brad Putney, "The Interview-Job." The stage crew consisted of Chris Merritt doing the lights, Lisa Maigaard and Theresa Boeckholt helping with costumes and make-up, and the set design by Tina Boeckholt. The backgrounds were painted by Mr. Noah's Art class. The first play, "Antic Spring," was about a group of teenagers, going on a picnic. Everyone seemed to enjoy Blossom, as played by Penny Mulhem because she was so bubbly and full of life. She was always chasing Elbert despite his attempts to keep her away. Sam and Gwendelyn were boyfriend/girlfriend who kept getting into fights and Sam would collect all the things he gave her. Then they would make up and he would have to give her everything back. The second play, "Lady Seeks Position," was about a rich lady trying to find a maid. Julie Brooks did a good job with her English accent. Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Dee, and Mrs. Lyttle were all going for the same job and they all ended up at the same place at once. They all began arguing and finally Mrs. Felicity Maltravers told them all to leave. The last play, "The Interview-Job," was about a robot who was sent to kill this lady. Agnes Grapney built Donald Brown, the robot, and sent him to kill Joyce Quigley, Agnes' former boss. Donald goes to kill her and she keeps making passes at him. He finally got up the nerve to kill her and then she tells him that she is a robot too, and they fall in love and Donald decides not to kill her.

CHAMPAIGN

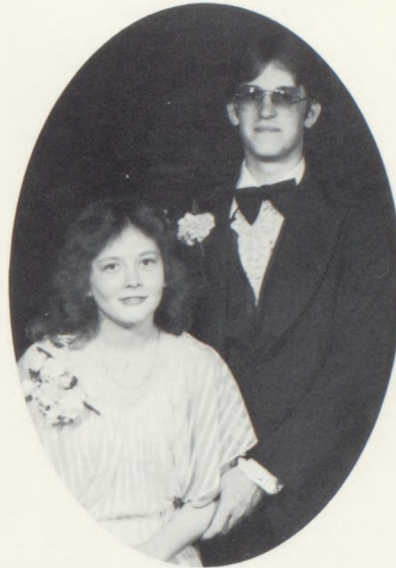

Prom, a magical night for Seniors, all was to go well. Boy, was I wrong!

It all started when I was getting ready. My hair curled the wrong way; I broke two nails; I ran out of cover up, cracked the heel of my shoe, and gained five pounds so my dress was too tight.

At 6:30 p.m. my date picked me up. He looked great in his tux. We went through the traditional picture taking as he pinned on my corsage. Then . . . I started to sneeze and sneeze. It turned out I was allergic to the flower! I had a choice between sneezing all night or leaving the corsage at home. I left it at home.

At 6:45 p.m. we headed for dinner. Our reservations were for 7:00 p.m. and we were making perfect time. Then it happened ... BANG! BOOM! POP! ... his car broke down. We walked a block to the nearest gas station and called his dad. At 7:06 p.m. he arrived in the family truck. Being the nice guy that he was, he let us take off in the truck and he would take care of the car.

We arrived at Compiano's at 7:17 p.m. We asked the maitre de if we still had our reservations. He told us that they only hold them for five minutes. So we had to wait and wait. At 7:42 p.m. we got seated and placed our orders. That was a big mistake! A warning to all: Never order spaghetti on Prom night. You don't look very attractive with sauce all over your face.

At 8:29 p.m. we arrived at the Botanical Center. It was a beautiful place to have a Prom, but I got lost.

It wouldn't have been bad if I was with someone special, but I couldn't find my date. I finally found him on the dance floor with another girl. He said she was a friend from church.

As we were leaving, I had a sudden allergy attack. Those dumb flowers! I got out of there as quickly as possible and climbed in the truck. Rip! . . . There went my dress, but I didn't care. My nose was running, my hair fell, my feet were aching, and I wanted to go home.

We arrived at my house at 12:34 a.m. He escorted me to the door, kissed me, and left. It turned out to be a pretty good night after all and I knew I would never forget it.

By the way, none of this really happened to anyone. We just thought it would be nice to show you some of the things that could have happened, and aren't you glad they didn't? . . . Or did they?

THE KNACK

The softball team had five returning letter winners, three of which were seniors. They included Sophomore Robin Stewart, Junior Janet Hyde, Seniors Vickie Judkins, Robbin Gordon, and Mindy Marchand. Robbin Gordon was the only player to land a spot on the second team all conference. Lavenia Carr led the team in batting average. Geri Peterson and Donna Brooks received Honorable Mention.

The HOIC proved to be a strong conference in the state this year as Ballard, Roland Story, and West Marshall were all rated and the latter two placed tenth and fifth respectively in the summer softball championships. Coach Crawford agreed they "definitely" improved as the season went on. This showed in their second round against West Marshall, when they went eight innings against the sixth rated team but came up on the short end, 0-2.

STYX

The baseball team had its share of ups and downs last year, but they managed to end the season with a 15-12 winning record. Highlights of the season included an upset victory over the top-rated East High Scarlets in the Saydel Tournament. However, the Dragons failed to beat Roosevelt in the championship game, placing second. They placed first in the Indianola Tournament, and second in the conference. The Dragons were playing well at the end of the season, and had high hopes for the State Tournament, but a poor offensive game against Roland-Story ended these hopes and closed the season.

IRON MAIDEN

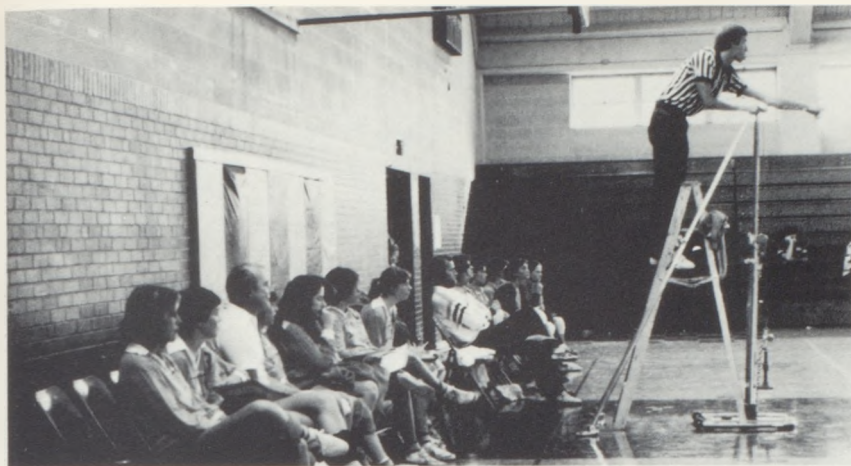

The whistle blows, the girls get into a huddle, Coach Hansen gives the girls a quick pep talk and tells them, "take each point at a time." Then they yell, "Wosh," pronounced oosh, and dive out of the circle.

The volleyball team started many of its matches that way. At the beginning of the season the team ranked 18th in the state. The girls had a very active season. Their first match was against Martensdale-St. Mary's and turned out to be very encouraging.

The first tournament of the season was at North. It wasn't the best they could do, but it opened the door to a promising season. The second tournament turned out to be beneficial and enlightening for the girls. One of the reasons was because the team almost beat number 1 ranked Knoxville.

The team started out sectionals playing Bondurant-Farrar, winning in three games — 15-1, 15-7, and 15-2. The next day the volleyball team played Colfax winning the match in four games. After a day of rest the girls went on to play Baxter, winning — 15-13, 15-11, 14-16, and 15-3. After this match the team advanced to regionals. They played Waukee and United of Boone which ended them up in the finals of regionals. This was one of the most heart-breaking games the girls had. If they would have won this game it would have meant going to state. Even though the end of the season was sad, they had a very successful season. Congratulations girls, volleyball team and coach, Morry Hansen!

GRATEFUL DEAD

Cross Country is the JHS fall sport opposite football. The sport involves making a two mile run. Now, two miles isn't really that far. Any healthy person should be able to make it. But Cross Country is much more than just "making it." A runner also has to cope with hills, gullies, bushes, and water to name a few hazards. (Sound more like an obstacle course?) And he has to do it quickly to compete. Mike Main is such a competitor. His 10:40 time at Districts qualified him for the State meet.

Unlike football, which requires a quick burst of energy with rest between plays, Cross Country needs a sustained effort despite aching muscles and searing lungs. Now don't get me wrong — football is every bit as physical as cross country.

There's something about cross country. As you crest the final hill and the finish line is in sight, you're really grateful. (But when there's a tiredness in your body, your pace is slowed, and you still need that ending sprint.) Once you're across that line you swear never to race again. Your body is dead. Cross Country teams are truly the Grateful Dead.

THE B-SZ'S

The girls' tennis team got off to a rough start this year. They started out with Mrs. Pitzen as their new coach and only nine players. This meant that everyone, including the girls who had never played before, had to play varsity.

With it still snowing in April the team didn't get to go outside much and had to practice in the gym. That didn't give them much experience on the courts before their first meet. Many of the meets had to be rescheduled because of snow or rain and some of those were even cancelled.

Even with unfavorable odds, the team overcame them. The doubles team of Anita Lacsina and Robin Stewart made it all the way to Districts but were defeated there. The team finished with a winning record of six wins and three losses.

SHOOTING STAR

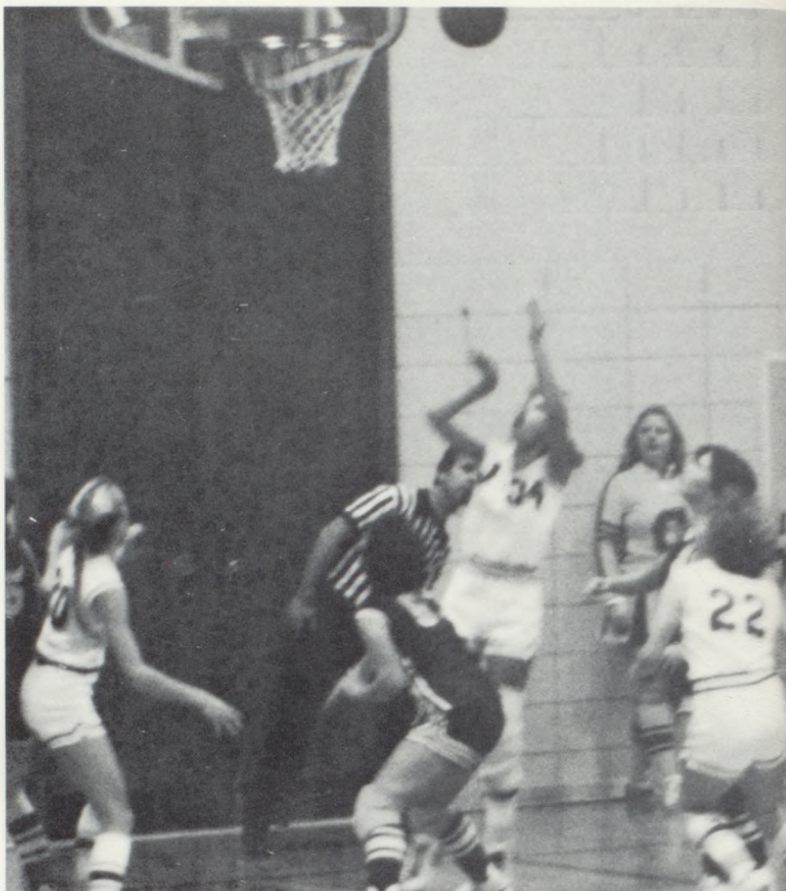

The girls get physically and mentally ready for the hard competition by shooting baskets in the silent gym or just thinking about what they need to do for the game. In an hour the gym wasn't silent any longer, with the muffle of the cheerleaders cheering and the distinct voices of the coaches giving the team commands.

This is how most of the games started. The team went out on the court with the enthusiasm and determination to win, but very few times did it come out the way they wanted. They usually walked off the floor, heads to the ground, and tears in their eyes. They so often repeated the same question, "Why is it always us?"

Almost every game they lost was by 2-7 points. Those were the hardest games to lose. They were so close but yet so far.

In a way it was a disappointing season, because they knew they had the talent to win. The team will be losing four seniors: Janelle Yepsen, Lavenia Carr, Michelle Betz, and Robin Sparks. Michelle Betz and Robin Sparks were named to Honorable Mention in the Heart of Iowa. The team's record was 3-17 overall and 2-12 in the conference.

... Tears dried, showers taken. The girls get ready to watch the boys game. And then out for pizza or home to bed afterwards.

DR. HOOK

The Johnston High School boys' basketball team, coached by Frank Sanders and assistant Kevin Lehman, had a tough season this year. Even though they finished last in the Heart of Iowa Conference many players received special awards. Senior captains Dobby Hicks and Tom Huth were voted Most Valuable Players for the 1981-82 basketball season. Dobby also led the team in average scoring per game with an average of 12.2 points a game while Tom Huth led in total points with 180. Two players received all Conference Honorable Mentions; they were Dobby Hicks and senior John Everett who also led the team in rebounds. Curt Neuman was considered the best freshman player in the conference and led the team in free throw percentage with 70.8% and was ninth in the conference for steals. Corky Madison, Monte Friestad, and David Sexton were all first year letter winners.

SQUEEZE

The Johnston wrestling squad had another fine season which ended on a high note by winning the Heart of Iowa Conference Tournament, Sectional Tournament, and avenging the only dual loss of the season to West Marshall. From Districts, seniors Tim Grimes at 105, Kevin Jarchow at 119, Todd Pugh at 145 and John Lockard at 132 went on to state. John Lockard ended his season with a record of 29-3, being undefeated in the district and finishing sixth in the state.

RUNAWAYS

Everyone was anxious for track season to arrive. The weather, first snow then rain, delayed meets and cancelled one altogether. There was no telling where this team of 26 members was headed after losing six seniors to graduation, only that they would not be as strong as they were the previous year. Little did anyone know that they would again win all their invitationals, a relay would capture a state championship, and they would make their best showing ever in the state meet.

The late start didn't hamper some performances. The ten flight shuttle hurdle relay team demolished the school record the first time out and continued to do so throughout the season. Jan Quick consistently soared over five feet or more and always finished strong in the 200 and 400 meter dash. Tami Sparks and Robin Sparks always picked up points in the 100 and 200 meter dashes respectively. Janelle Yepsen established a school record in the 3000 meter run, which was run in only some meets (no state) as a trial for the first year. Long jumper Michelle Betz leaped over 16' every meet.

The seniors proved their strength after all four appeared in the state meet. The 4x200 relay of Tami Sparks, Kathy Grimes, Jan Quick, and Robin Sparks did not qualify for the finals. Michelle Betz came in third. The sprint medley squad of Tami Sparks, Robin Sparks, Jan Quick, Michelle Betz finished second. And last but not least, Jan Quick joined seniors Janelle Yepsen, Robin Sparks, and Michelle Betz to end brilliant careers with a state championship in the 4x400 relay!!

With another track season past, we can once breathe a sigh of relief. The funny feeling in our tummies and lumps in our throats have passed. Rolls of tape never to be seen again, spikes worn down to stubs, and the cramergetic bottle emptied. Wondering who will provide the entertainment on the bus next year (Let the sun shine in) and be the next gullible freshman (Arg!). We need only glance at our trophy case to restore the memories and find answers to an unpredictable and somewhat unexpected season.

RUSH

The weather was the main opponent of the boys' track team during the '82 season, but the Dragons managed to overcome this barrier and claim their sixth straight conference championship by outscoring their closest opponent, Nevada, by 57 points. The Dragons also claimed the Urbandale Invitational Class B championship by a margin of 20 points.

The Dragon 4 x 100 relay team of Brad Peters, Bob Sigmund, John Allender, and Bill Paez represented Johnston at the Drake Relays, but failed to place. The same 4 x 100 team qualified for the State meet, as well as Brad Peters in the 100 meter dash, and the 4 x 400 relay team of Spencer Sutton, Matt Lang, Sigmund, and Peters.

DIRE STRAITS

The Girls' golf team had a year of rebuilding. Carla Goss was the number one person on the team. She was medalist twice this year. Kristin Horner, Kris Harris, and Adrienne Ruggles rounded out the varsity top four. The girls didn't graduate any one and with these four girls' experience and the new faces expected in the in coming freshmen they really should do well and improve on their 1-3 record of this year.

The boys' varsity golf team had a new face for the number one man. Troy Johnson led the team with a 9-hole average of 39.6 strokes. Troy was medalist in two dual meets this year and was the Saydel Invitational Medalist. Ron Hines was a close second on the team. Joel Jones and Chris Pike rounded out the top four. Freshmen John Haller and David Grimes finished out the varsity.

The team finished with a 5-3 record which was very good with only one returning letter winner. Next year there will be three returning letter winners and, as Coach Sanders said, "just wait until next year."

DEEP PURPLE

Cheerleaders were responsible for raising school spirit. All three squads had pep assemblies, painted posters, and held doughnut sales before school.

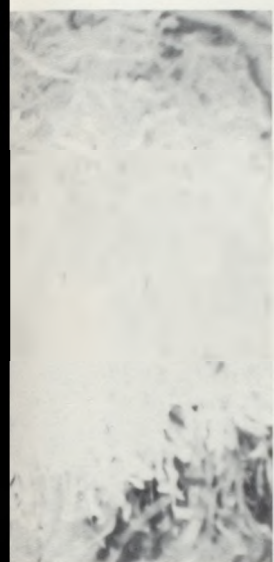

The Football cheerleaders started off with Homecoming activities like T-shirt Day, Grub Day, Hat Day, Dress-up Day, and No Red Day. They also sold eggs door to door to raise money for their uniforms. They went to one house and asked for an egg, then went to the next house and sold it. They sometimes got up to $5 an egg as contributions. They bought flowers for the football players. They also went door to door and sold cheers to raise money. People gave contributions to hear a football cheer.

The Basketball cheerleaders visited Veterans Hospital and helped pass out gifts at Christmas and Valentines Day. They also sponsored a dance after a game.

The Wrestling Cheerleaders sponsored activities in February like Punk Rock day, T-Shirt and hat day, and Purple and Gold day to promote Wrestling Week.

Not only did cheerleaders cheer, but they raised school spirit and got students to participate in activities.

SPLIT ENZ

Football — hey! (Sorry, I couldn't resist.)

Autumn leaves, brisk air, and football are what makes for a fun fall semester.

Fun? Football? Never in the same sentence. Our football players came together as a team in late August, while the temperatures were still in the 90's, to begin the infamous "two-a-days," and continue to work through the fall.

"This was as hardworking a group as we've ever had," said Coach Mahoney.

Both Coaches Sypniewski and Mahoney were quoted as saying this season had its ups and downs. One very high "up" was the defeat of third-rated Ballard.

This year's team turned out a 4-5 record. Not too bad. Outstanding offensive players were Ken Grissom and John Lockard. Outstanding players were Todd Robbins and John Everett, with Don Vestal winning Most Valuable Player.

Looking to next year, both coaches have hopes for both Bob Sigmund and Mike Rhoades as team leaders.

When Coach Sypniewski was asked if he had any advice for graduating Seniors, he first admitted to be "at a loss for words," but quickly added that "The only way to success in football is hard work. Nothing comes easy in life."

The 200 copies of the Johnston Annual entitled New Waves at J.H.S., were printed by Taylor Publishing Company, using offset lithography on 80 pound enamel paper. The Sales Representative was Ms. Jill E. Schmidt.

The cover was designed by Mike Belknap. The cover is thermo-screened with yellow over purple. The theme concept of the book was by Kathy Schuler. There are 144 pages, 6 of which are color and 6 are silver #3-over silver tint blocks. These are the special effect pages. Division pages were designed by Jeff Westpheling. The endsheets, depicting and carrying on the theme of New Waves at Johnston, were also designed by Mike Belknap. Body copy was typed in ten point Optima 40, and caption copy was typed in eight point Optima 40, with justified margins. Headlines and the ad pages were chosen by the staff. They were Orbit 132, Stencil 144, Vinetta 152, Maxima 124, Ronda 138, and Pioneer 136. These headlines were the names of New Wave music groups which is the theme of our book. The size of the book is 7 1/2 x 10 1/2.

We would like to acknowledge all of the following who have helped us put the book together. Thank you...

McKenna Studios for Senior portraits and athletic and organization photos.

Mr. Noah's photo art classes for their much appreciated photographs.

Mr. Noah for the use of his equipment when it was needed.

UFO

Well, another year has passed with accomplishments of a homecoming win, a knock on the door for girls' state volleyball, six qualifiers in state wrestling, Swing Choir's superior rating, jazz band's third place at Drake, and third place in girls' state track. Still we regret the loss of Micki Main and the disappointment of the basketball season.

The Freshmen have hopefully grown, and can now reach the drinking fountains. Sophomores are now juniors so act like it. Sure, last year was boring to some, but '82 was a good year. We would like to congratulate the seniors and wish them the best of luck. Johnston will always be with us wherever we go so remember the good times and live your life to the fullest.

Upper Middle: Student Council plants a tree in memory of Micki Main.

Middle Right: Whoever said three's a crowd?

Lower Right: Hugh, where is your mind wandering?

Upper Right: Scott Campbell, Tim Jenkins, and Cosimo Graham all agree that they should turn up the heat.

 Bottom: A rare moment in the library.
